

Processor

The diagram shows a system architecture with three processors at the top, each in a light green rounded rectangle. Below them is a single, wider, medium green rounded rectangle representing shared memory. Each processor is connected to the memory by a vertical double-headed arrow, indicating bidirectional communication. The entire system is enclosed in a thin green border.

Processor

Processor

Memory